Honor List of the College of Arts and Sciences and College of Engineering

Winter Term, 1921-1922

PUBLISHED BY THE UNIVERSITY FOUR TIMES A MONTH, AND ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AT THE POSTOFFICE AT AUSTIN, TEXAS,
UNDER THE ACT OF AUGUST 24, 1912

The benefits of education and of useful knowledge, generally diffused through a community, are essential to the preservation of a free government.

Sam Houston

Cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy. . . . It is the only dictator that freemen acknowledge and the only security that freemen desire.

Mirabeau B. Lamar

EXPLANATION

The object of this Honor List is to commend officially one-tenth (approximately) of the student body, that tenth whose grades during the term rank them scholastically above the remaining nine-tenths. This "top" tenth is subdivided into five groups, the students in each group being listed alphabetically.

In constructing this Honor List, account is taken both of the grades made and the number of courses passed; that is, account is taken both of the quantity and quality of the work accomplished by the student as evidenced by the reports of the instructors. No account is taken of the grade in the required physical training, or of courses registered for but not passed. Heavy emphasis is placed on quality by counting an A as 12, a B as 9, a C as 6, a D as 3 in computing what may be called the score of a student. Fractional courses, which run in thirds, are counted proportionately; for example, a B made in Chemistry 411, which is a four-thirds course, counts four-thirds of 9, that is, 12, in scoring—the same as an A made on a full course.

Freshman grades run lower than those of Upperclassmen, and to attain a certain rank among his fellow classmates a Freshman does not have to make as high a score as an Upperclassman. This fact is exhibited in the following table which gives the scores that Upperclassmen and Freshmen must make, respectively, to attain to membership in each of the five groups into which the Honor List is divided.

	Score
	Upper Classmen	Freshmen
Group 1	61 up	57 up
Group 2	55-60	54-56
Group 3	52-54	51-53
Group 4	49-51	46-48
Group 5	48	45

During the first ten years of its existence (1883-93), the University published annually at Commencement a list of "Distinguished" students in each of the various courses. This list, long discontinued, was again published during the period 1913-1919. In 1919 this annual or Long Session Honor List was replaced by the present term Honor Lists, the work done by a student in all of his courses being commended rather than the work done in each individual course.
